Your responsibilities

IST Austria strives to make the fascinating spirit of research accessible to children, teenagers, adults and school teachers who are not actively involved in science on an everyday basis. All activities of IST Austria in this field will be bundled in the new “Science Education & Outreach” team under the strategic guidance of the Vice President for Science Education for the purpose of communicating scientific contents, as well as the importance and impact of science for society.

- Leading and developing the team for Science Education & Outreach
- Improving existing and creating new ideas, formats and content for outreach activities to foster public engagement with basic science
- Developing and launching the Science Experience Center (VISTA) and the entire „VISTA“ brand, which stands for science-themed communication to non-scientist target groups
- Continually developing science education activities for children of all ages and educators
- Continuing existing and establishing new school collaborations
- Applying state-of-the-art marketing tools to reach a broader public audience

Your profile

- Substantial working experience in the field of science education and/or outreach
- Completed studies preferably in the natural or formal sciences and/or science communication
- High awareness of the importance of basic research for society
- Pedagogical experience and project management skills
- Excellent knowledge of English and German
- Team player who proactively involves and cooperates with colleagues
- Strong interpersonal & communication skills to build a network and foster collaborations
- High degree of service orientation and hands-on mentality
